

Business Monitor for November (97 responses, 70% exporters)

Comments on November Monitor Data

With different data sources generally recording different results because they are measuring different things, it's important to keep in mind that the Monitor records only the number of companies, not the size of orders or number of jobs etc.

- After the basically poor returns in the second and third quarters, the expectations riding on the fourth quarter results were only partially met in October and November, because while UK business seemed to be moving forward in October, it fell back in November, which was when exporters reported some useful gains
- In November firms reported UK activity flat (enquiries) and down (orders) compared with a month earlier.
- The current three month running averages for enquiries now compare favourably with a with a year ago: UK business is now positive at +11 (+12 a year ago) and for exports +3 compares with 0 a year earlier.
- UK orders were weaker in November. After a big October increase in the number of firms reporting increased UK orders, the order level balance of fallers over gainers fell to -19 after +15 a month earlier.
- Exporters enjoyed the best performance since March with 35% of firms reporting increased orders, so that the balance turned positive for the first time since the first quarter 2012.
- The UK and export order balances as three-month running averages are -4 (UK) and -9 (exports) compared with +13 and 0 respectively a year earlier.
- Comparisons between October and November performance underscore the erratic nature of the economic recovery but also the nature of volatility which at the same time can see UK activity ebbing, while export orders flow in.
- Companies remain positive about their employment plans with a balance of +6 (+6 last month) reflecting the number of firms expecting to take on more workers. This is as low as the balance has been all year.
- This lagging indicator is now clearly reflecting companies broader uncertainties about the direction of the economy as approximately one in five companies (19%) say they require fewer workers. That's the largest proportion since November last year.
- Investment activity remained flat again this month with 56% of firms saying they weren't investing (albeit they might be developing projects they weren't prepared to commit to them
- However, 29% of firms say they are investing in all areas.
- There was little or no change in overall access to finance.
- This month, one association reported members' confidence levels improved on the up/down balance recording an overall positive balance of +11. That's three months of positive balances averaging +11.
- Although companies split fairly evenly when reporting their performance (as better, the same or worse than last year) this month EAMA members found balances on enquiry levels and orders both better than a year ago, +6 on enquiries and +5 on orders.
- So the questions for January have to be can exporters ginger up demand so that foreign buyers sustain their orders while UK activity improves.
- The Chancellor's Autumn Statement offers support in this direction with the big increase in the Annual Investment Allowance to £250,000 (from £25,000) available from 1st January 2013.
